TROCAIRE
Working for a Just World

"In recent weeks many people will have made donations in response to the earthquake in Haiti and may feel that they have made their contribution for this year. There is evidence now that this is having a negative impact on the Lenten appeal and will make it difficult to generate the funds needed to sustain work in other parts of the developing world.

"The silent earthquake in our midst is the scandal of hunger which causes the death of more than 5 million children under 5 years of age each year. One billion people are hungry because they don't have the money to buy food or the resources to produce it in sufficient amounts to feed themselves and their families." Between Ash Wednesday and Easter Sunday this silent earthquake will have taken the lives of 600,000 children, more than twice the number who perished in Haiti." Justin Kilcullen, Trocaire.
