Prayer, Charity and Peace. And so we come to the third point of our reflection: our commitment to promoting peace and unity. The motto of this visit is drawn from the words of the risen Jesus: "Peace be with you!" (cf. Jn 20:21). In an inscription found among the mosaics of Tipasa, we read: "In Deo, pax et concordia sit convivio nostro," which we could translate as: "In God, may peace and harmony reign in our life together." Peace and harmony have been fundamental characteristics of the Christian community from its very beginnings (cf. Acts 2:42-47), in accordance with Jesus' own desire (cf. Jn 17:23), who said: "By this everyone will know that you are my disciples, if you have love for one another" (Jn 13:35). Saint Augustine, in this regard, affirmed that the Church "brings forth diverse peoples, but they are members of him whose body she is" (Sermon 192, 2), and Saint Cyprian wrote: "Our peace and brotherly agreement is the greater sacrifice to God — and a people united in one in the unity of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit" (The Lord's Prayer, 23). It is beautiful, today, to hear such a rich variety of words and examples resonating in what we have heard. Pope Leo in Algiers

Peace Prayer of Saint Francis

Lord, make me an instrument of your peace:

where there is hatred,
let me sow love;
where there is injury, pardon;
where there is doubt, faith;
where there is despair, hope;
where there is darkness, light;
where there is sadness, joy.

O divine Master,
grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled as
to console,
to be understood
as to understand,
to be loved as to love.

For it is in giving that we receive, it is in pardoning that we are pardoned,
and it is in dying that we are born to eternal life. Amen.

"In two days in Algeria, we've really had a wonderful opportunity to continue to build bridges, to promote dialogue," he concluded. "I think the visit to the mosque was significant and to say that although we have different beliefs, we have different ways of worshipping, we have different ways of living, we can live together in peace." Pope Leo Speaking to reporters in Algeria
