Come to me, all you that are weary and are carrying heavy burdens, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn from me; for I am gentle and humble in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light."

I would like to wish Mr. Niall Rabbitt every blessing as he takes a year's secondment from his work in Scoil an Chlochair. He has done fantastic work in the school over the past seventeen years as principal. He has worked with the staff to make them a great team who are up to date with all the current advances and trends in education. The staffroom has a joyful and friendly environment which is a testament to his leadership.

The development of the ASD class, and caring for children with special needs in the classroom have been among Niall's great achievements. The new extensions and prefabs have furthered the development of the school greatly, and the growing numbers have justified the work. The high standard of students entering secondary education, and the WSE reports, are a testament of the high standards in the school under Niall's leadership. Niall has worked with the staff to maintain the Catholic ethos of the School and has facilitated the Catholic education of the children and the administering of the sacraments. He has worked well with the Parents' Associations and the Boards of Management over the years and has always had their united support.

I would like also to wish Mrs. Eileen O'Neill every blessing in her new role as Principal for the coming year. She has worked well with Niall as Deputy Principal, as a classroom teacher, and with the music in the school. Eileen is well respected by the rest of the staff and by all the parents.

We will miss Niall. He has given seventeen years, of dedicated, cheerful and painstaking service to the school, and has gone far beyond the call of his professional duty in the post.

We all wish Niall every blessing in his new position and we look forward to his return.
