Come to me, all you that are weary and are carrying heavy burdens, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn from me; for I am gentle and humble in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light.”

New Catholic bishop of Ardagh and Clonmacnoise appointed by Pope Francis

We welcome the appointment of Fr. Paul Connell, a priest of our Diocese, and native of Mullingar to the Diocese of Ardagh and Clonmacnoise as their new Bishop. Fr. Paul was ordained in 1982, and has worked with great skill, as President of St. Finian's. He has recently worked as chancellor in the Diocese of Meath. Fr. Paul has also served as Secretary to the Irish Bishops' on Catholic Education. He will be installed as Bishop in Longford Cathedral at a later date. May God bless him and his work.

Every person has a right to food and water. Yet too often these basic rights are denied. Over 800 million people are going hungry. Many communities can't access land and water. Climate change is only making these problems worse. Drought and other extreme weather patterns are ravaging people's lands and farms. There is also a global scramble for land, water and other resources. This is driven by huge global and national demand for food, minerals and energy. This is often at the expense of poor rural communities. Corporations put profit before the health of humans and our fragile earth. Large-scale commercial agriculture is failing poor communities. This model is also worsening the impacts of climate change and damaging our environment. For many of the world's poorest, states are also failing in their duty to protect peoples' rights to resources.

- Trócaire takes actions that contribute towards people's food and resource rights: We provide access to knowledge and equipment for families to grow food and earn an income We take legal action to protect land and natural resources. We support families to grow a wider range of sustainable food crops. A varied diet means better nutrition and families are not reliant on one crop
- When disasters such as floods and drought strike, we help families to recover
- We build community resilience to the impacts of climate change and environmental damage
- We support communities to protect their local environment. We campaign for international action on climate change
- Please bring your Trocaire contributions to the Church next week.
